

12 Nov 06: Welcome

The Newsletter is now available on the (surprise, surprise) Newsletter page. The Newsletter is an Adobe pdf file, so you can save it to your local hard drive by clicking "Save a Copy" from the Adobe tool bar. If you save it to your local hard drive, you will be able to read the file more rapidly than waiting on the Internet to change pages for you. You can also save all of the individual images (pictures) used in the Newsletter - which are in color - by clicking on "Export all images" on the Adobe "Advanced" menu. So, even though you have the hard copy, check out the pictures in color. Al and Nell did a great job of covering the Pigeon Forge Roundup, so we won't dedicate a lot of space to repeating those stories and reports. In a future update, we will however, put George Kyle's account of "The Day We Lost Jack and Mike" in the Then and Now section.
